The 2019
Northamptonshire Logistics Awards

Celebrating Excellence in Northamptonshire’s Logistics Sector

Friday May 17th
The Park Inn
Northampton
7pm
A key area the Forum have worked on this year is to understand the importance of recruitment and retention and find ways of overcoming some of the barriers to success. In recent years, recruiting, retaining and developing talent in the supply chain and logistics sector has come to the fore, particularly in Northamptonshire where the sector is growing fastest.

Investing in people has not just become a skill but an art; nurturing talent as more and more people are hungry to learn and grow. Where investment works well we see greater job satisfaction leading to better retention as people feel more empowered, gaining expertise, growing in confidence and credibility. Businesses see improvements in flexibility and productivity.

All in all there is greater satisfaction for the individual and team, with a more cost effective outcome for the business.

Our signing of the Armed Forces Covenant recently sends out a clear message of intent on our part to support service personnel. Whether they be a cadet starting out on a career journey, or a service leaver, veteran, in fact the whole ‘family’ if possible, looking to make the best use possible of the skills and talents they have gained while in service. We are already working with local businesses on a new initiative, visible on the new website: www.forceslogisticsnorthants.co.uk, to help people transition to Civvy Street and find the most fulfilling opportunities in career development.

Also this year, with an eye on diversity and inclusion, we are developing ways to support Women in Logistics. There are growing numbers of women, operating in key operational and leadership roles, who deserve to be more ‘visible’ so that they can empower others into a sector that has so many diverse and exciting opportunities to offer.

Watch this space on our Forum website at: www.northantslogisticsforum.com, and get involved!

The Awards & Finalists:

Emerging Talent Award Sponsored by PALLITE

Indre Mikulskeyte – C Butt
Indre has been nominated not only due to her levels of commitment and performance, but also because during customer reviews she is regularly singled out for praise – for her attention to detail and friendly nature. Indre joined the business in January 2017 and is always the first to volunteer for new duties.

Since Indre joined, she has passed first aid training, food safety level 2, and very recently obtained her PPT licence - something that she doesn’t need as part of her daily role. She has embraced this new skill with her usual levels of optimism and energy.

Megan Rigby – TruckEast
At just 22 Megan is already making an impression at TruckEast – delivering the very best service to customers, collaborating with management to embed changes and showing enthusiasm and drive in all she does. Megan has been with the company for just 18 months and has already gained a huge amount of respect from everyone at the depot.

Her nominee said: “It is rare to see someone with relatively little experience, at such a young age, to take on such a large responsibility and thrive with it.”

Apprentice of the Year Award Sponsored by SOCIETAL

Andy Brown – Wincanton
Andy has been employed at the Wincanton Northampton site for 12 years as a Transport Shift Manager, helping to look after over 200 drivers and 30 Transport Office colleagues. Just over 17 months ago Andy started an 18-month Operational Manager Development Program apprenticeship.

During this time he has helped the department to win awards and is now one of four shift managers in the transport team. He has been part of the Sainsbury’s Pineham freezer project integration team, enabling the transport team to recruit an additional 100 drivers to deliver stock.

Marcelina Adamczyk – Wincanton
Marcelina started as a warehouse operative agency worker in 2012, working in the Chill Department, checking pallets, closing grids and carrying out general warehouse duties. She chose not to apply for a full-time position at the time as she wanted flexibility to complete her college course.

Having been asked if she might be interested in a apprenticeship she enrolled on the 12-month Supply Chain Warehouse Operator apprenticeship which she completed this February. She is now recognised as a core member of the team who is now likely to progress to the next level, which is a first line team manager when the next vacancy arises.

Oliver Cockerill – TruckEast
Oliver joined the firm in September 2017 on the HGV Mechanic level 3 apprenticeship and from the start his enthusiasm shone through. He asked to do work experience at the initial interview and, although unpaid, he was always on time and eager to learn and listen.

His nominee has praised Oliver’s admiral ability to hold and recall information and to manage tasks and deliver results. He aspires to be an escalation technician – the highest possible level within the Scania network.

Matthew Heald – Morrisons PLC
Matthew overcame challenges during his engineering apprenticeship, having initially struggled with electrical drawings. With assistance and the encouragement of colleagues he was able to get to a stage where he felt comfortable to interpret drawings.

Matthew says he is proud to treat every day like a school day – because, he says, no matter how big or small “I will learn something new”. Matthew volunteers, outside work, to support school pupils who are making choices for their future.

Harry Laverick – Fortec Distribution Network
Harry has been described by his colleagues as an exceptional apprentice – first joining the firm in 2017. Since then his confidence has soared and he is proving a valuable contribution to the company’s marketing function.

He has proved an integral part of the team. Highlights include launching a bi-monthly internal newsletter, designing and building a website from scratch and designing an animation for the company’s national conference. In April Harry started his Marketing Executive level 4 and he is committed to a career in logistics.

The Northamptonshire Logistics Awards 2019

Team of the Year Award
Sponsored by John Lewis & Partners

Wilson Browne Solicitors
This company's logistics team is committed to developing the logistics sector, is a proud member of the Northamptonshire Logistics Forum and a supporter of Forces Logistics Northants.

The dedicated team works with smaller suppliers right up to multinational businesses at the heart of the logistics world.

One client example is United Pallet Network, with the Wilson Browne team helping with its Central Hub relocation – facilitating a deal which saw them move to modernised premises. Wilson Browne is described by UPN as “an integral part of our extended management team”.

PALLITE
An idea turned into a new commercial product for the PALLITE team.

The project started with a team of two but grew to involve all areas of the business – concept design by Operations and Sales, mock-ups from Production, testing from the Quality team, cost review from Finance and collateral from Marketing.

It started in January 2018 when PALLITE were approached by one of the leading, global ‘Third Party Logistics Providers’, who were interested in using PALLITE boxes for warehouse storage. 12 months of hard work resulted in the introduction to the market of the new PIX range - flexible solutions which help optimise space, increase picking speed as well as reducing picking errors.

Teamwork has been at the heart of this success.

Inspiring in Schools & Community
Sponsored by Goodwill Solutions CIC

Michael Price & Christy Jones – Wincanton
Wincanton has nominated two colleagues jointly for this award - Michael Price (Site Operations Manager) and Christy Jones (Health and Safety Manager). Both have worked tirelessly over the last year, working with Northamptonshire schools and colleges to promote the logistics industry.

The duo developed interactive and engaging workshops, delivering four sessions to around 500 Year 8 students – playing interactive games which linked celebrities to the logistics sector.

Michael and Christy have now started working with primary schools, delivering a road safety message. There is now a waiting list of schools that have asked the duo to deliver these sessions.

Bob Edwards & Team – Kuehne + Nagel
Bob and his team visit schools all over the country, talking with students to raise the profile of logistics, careers and apprenticeships. They have been delivering career talks, showing off their trucks and playing the ‘Business on the Move’ logistics game with students.

They also attend the National Apprenticeship Show. Northampton Academy have praised the team: “We had our biggest audience so far with all our Business Studies students joining us for an introduction to logistics, an interview skills session and a look round the lorry! Loads of great questions from the students today, really encouraging for logistics.”

Forterra’s Logistics Team
This team has been delivering road safety days at primary school since 2016, with logistics director Andy Manning and transport compliance manager Jamie Bielawski at the heart of these. During each safety event Forterra collaborates with emergency services and also takes along one of its HGV vehicles.

In 2016 and twice in 2018, fleet drivers and managers assisted emergency services at Wicksteed Park at two such events, which were attended by more than 200 10 and 11-year-olds.

Forterra delivers products across the country via its fleet of more than 130 vehicles and the company feels it is its responsibility to help make roads safer.

Cygnia Logistics
Revolution Beauty is number 43 in the UK’s top 100 growth companies and Cygnia started looking after its logistics in 2018, with its Revolution Beauty team adapting and growing. There was a 16 hour, five days a week shift pattern to accommodate 1,000 orders per day and within three weeks these orders stepped up to 3,000 orders a day, requiring 24/7 cover to keep pace.

What is extraordinary is how so many people, new to the company, just got on with it and fitted into the company’s culture. The team’s energy made a real difference to Revolution Beauty, helping the brand realise its full potential and protecting its reputation in the process.

To recognise a team who have worked together on a project for the benefit of the supply chain or outstanding contribution to the industry with impact.

This award recognises the achievements in promoting the logistics sector in Northamptonshire to young people, working with the community on projects or inspiring others about the industry.
Health, Safety & Wellbeing Award
Sponsored by Linde Material Handling

Wincanton
Wincanton pride themselves on their health and safety standards on site and the last decade has seen a huge reduction in accidents, RIDDOR’s (the Reporting of Injuries, Diseases and Dangerous Occurrences Regulations 2013) and collisions over recent years.

In fact in the last six years there has been a 64% reduction in accidents. The Transport department have had over 365 years without recording a single LTI (Lost Time Injury).

The company also carries out Health Awareness days, with external partners carrying out blood pressure checks, and glucose and cholesterol testing. Additional safety initiatives include ‘Ghost Bikes’, which are white bikes painted on to the site entrance to remind drivers about the need to look out for cyclists. The company has also visited a local primary school to talk to the children about road safety.

C BUTT
Earlier this year staff embraced a new ‘First for Well Being’ programme and a series of healthy mind programmes are planned throughout the year. These have already taught staff to look at what they are eating, drinking - and recipes are even being swapped.

Staff have signed up for the British Heart Foundation Heartstart initiative, which not only educates on emergency first aid but also informs on health issues.

Here’s an extract from the awards application: “It is a known statistic that 58% of lorry drivers suffer from mental health issues and as a business we have experienced distressing circumstances, thankfully rarely, but once it happens to you, or one of your colleagues, you will never forget it. This year we are embracing a Mental Health programme to encourage ex-military personnel into our industry, as we recognise what post-traumatic stress disorder can do.”

Baxter Healthcare
Free fruit for all employees and visitors, a free flu vaccine for staff, healthy lifestyle workshop, a weekly cycling group and healthy eating campaigns twice a year – Baxter takes wellbeing very seriously.

One of the company’s main objectives for 2019 is to focus on healthy aging in the workplace, using local resources to gather information on dementia and the menopause - to help with staff retention, morale and to reduce sick days. A three-minute video, put together by the safety committee, involved all site staff – showing that this culture is not only driven from the top down, but also the bottom up.

SME Company of the Year: Below 50 Employees
Sponsored by BHIB Insurance

SAS Logistics
This Brackmills based business employs 34 staff and describe their success due to its engagement with global brands (including DHL, XPO, Hewlett Packard, Fujitsu and Coca Cola) customer focus and the ability to react to situations to get the job done.

The initial growth of the business was based around the delivery of tropical fish to Pets at Home stores across the UK. The business then took another direction, based around its military roots.

Embracing technology has been key - developing a service-based App to provide customers with detailed tracking. Re-locating the business to Northampton, followed by rebranding, prepared the business for future growth. Turnover in 2016 was £1.8 million, and for 2018/19 the company is on track for achieving £2.7 million turnover.

Crisis Same Day Couriers
This company has around 800 contracts, more than a third of which have a Northamptonshire postcode. More than 90% of suppliers are county based, with the company offering the ability to collect work on a return journey – thus helping reduce dead miles and increase cash flow.

In 2018 the company increased sales by 11% to over £15 million, it was awarded ISO 9001: 2015 and won the Transport Exchange ‘Business of the Year’ award. The company is also proud to have improved its digital footprint in social media, thanks to courses organised by the Northamptonshire Growth Hub.

PALLITE
PALLITE is proud of its culture – something it puts down to the beliefs of the original founders and investors. Chairman Andrew Phillips believes passionately in the business, the products, the people and the positive impact it can make on industry.

Sustainability is something that everyone is proud of, and PALLITE continues to grow. 2018 saw sales rise by 58%, with sales breaking through the £1 million mark for the first time. Budgeted growth for 2019 is in excess of 100%. The business began with paper pallets and every two years there has been innovation. The company hosted a Chamber of Commerce event in 2018, is represented at all Northants Logistics events and has supported the Hope Centre with products and with its ‘Big Sleep Out’.
Growth Company of the Year

SAS Logistics
This company has demonstrated exceptional growth in sales and prides itself on its leading-edge technology, a strong brand and a skilled, customer focussed team with a modern fleet and secure premises.

In 2012 the current owner bought the business. Turnover for the first year was £360,000, with minimal profit levels. Expansion into the IT sector in 2014 triggered significant growth and by 2016 the business had a turnover of around £1.8million.

In 2017 it relocated to Brackmills and this larger site, improved infrastructure and streamlining of the operation led to a significant increase in turnover, with the business recording a record month in March 2018 of £240,000 and a turnover for the year ending 2018 of £1.9million. The projected turnover for 2018/19 is £2.7million.

The NX Group
Since the company launched in 2010, The NX Group has grown year on year. Over the last 12 months there has been significant growth. International trade has been the largest area of growth, with Brexit discussions driving additional work from both existing and new European customers. Close links with European hauliers has led to additional warehouse customers who are stockpiling for Brexit and also existing customers wanting more transportation work.

The increase in the number of eCommerce enquiries and converted customers has resulted in investment within the eCommerce section and the business has employed an additional 16 people over the previous 12 months, with recruitment plans in place for 2019 to further increase the workforce.

C BUTT
While the company admits to challenges in recent times it has, under the leadership of Jonathan and Robert Butt, seen a £300,000 swing in a single year – returning the company to profit in the year ending April 2018.

The family owned company, with 100 years of experience, is proud to invest in Northamptonshire people – developing local careers to retain people within the business and ensure all staff realise their full potential.

The success of the company is due to the hard work and commitment of the whole team.

Prigmore Haulage Ltd
This family run business, set up in 2014, has grown from strength to strength. When set up there were two full time drivers, two directors (Richard and Patricia and Kenneth Prigmore as the transport manager). Katherine Prigmore joined the company a year later as business development manager.

A contract win in 2018 enabled the company to employ three more drivers and the company estimate a turnover of around £1.4million at the end of this financial year. Today, 16 drivers are employed.
HGV Driver of the Year
Sponsored by Connexas

Kenneth Circuitt – C Butt
Ken, who joined the company in 2011, doesn't know when, or perhaps how, to stop. He is regularly in the yard by 4am, inspecting vehicles with his work colleagues in all weathers and securing the yard before climbing into the cab to spend the day delivering to customers.

With an average national age of around 58 years, Ken plays his part in supplying not only courtesy but experience. Ken will be 75 this year and it is because of drivers like Ken that this company is thriving.

When Ken joined the company he had been transferred from DHL. At that point retirement was an option but Ken made the decision to join the team and has since shown little signs of slowing down. In fact he is about to regain his Driver Qualification Card allowing him (health provided) to continue to drive for a further five years.

Lee Hemming – The NX Group
Lee has been a category CE driver for the company for more than eight years and his dedication to the sector and company is commended.

As well as completing a driver Trainer Assessment course, he always looks for ways to improve the logistics services and operations. He goes the extra mile to deliver excellent customer service and he has a wealth of knowledge in the logistics sector.

He is approachable, is great at his job, delivers pallets daily throughout the UK to end-customers and distribution centres, and is described as a real asset to the company.

Marcus Betts – Wincanton
Marcus has been employed as a HGV Class 1 Driver at Wincanton since 2013, was identified by managers as having potential and was quickly promoted to a Driver Trainer.

Along with this standard duties Marcus carries out additional duties - carrying out delivery point risk assessments, writing and training the Safe System of Work, annual driving assessments, inductions, classroom training and health and safety training.

Drivers can often be resistant to change, and transport departments are notorious for being challenging working environments, however, Marcus is a constant positive face and is known by his colleagues as being very professional, enthusiastic and approachable.

Justas Laugalis – NN1 Personnel
Justas has been working for NN1 Personnel for four years and has ability and positive attitude has not gone unnoticed.

Justas has worked for all of NN1 Personnel’s clients on various contracts and his politeness is regularly praised. He has been at the heart of the company’s success and his flexibility is admirable. He will often do an extra shift at short notice and will happily change his shift start time to suit changing customer requirements.

Justas’ idea of creating WhatsApp group for the drivers means there is now a #NN1Drivers online community, with drivers able to support each other.

Logistics Temporary Staff Agency of the Year – Sponsored by Spectrum for Arcadia

NN1 Personnel
Although not one of the biggest agencies, NN 1 Personnel is proud of its 100% attendance, unique in the temporary supply of staff.

The company is an active member of Logistics Forum and the first agency to take part in the innovative SEATS program – a pilot aimed at improving HGV driver quality and the co-operation between client, agency and driver.

When FSEW International Freight Forwarders decided to set up a base in Northampton they made contact with the company to supply agency drivers until the company could employ its own.

In the awards application form FSEW wrote: “This was back in September 2018 and what can I say, the high quality of drivers they have been able to supply at short notice and still keep a 100% attendance rate has been so good we have decided to stick with them for our driver requirements and have only employed 20% of our driver requirements.”

ACS Recruitment
This family run business has a wealth of local knowledge and experience, with a directorship team that has more than 40 years local experience in the sector. The business has a committed team of 24 staff, 10 of which have been with the company for over five years.

The company is proud of its strategic working partnerships with local businesses which help candidates into employment. One such joint venture is with Track NN, set up to support candidates with autism into employment.

There is already a promising uptake and ACS Recruitment is proud to, as it said in its awards application, “be leading the way with developing such partnerships, looking at alternative labour markets and offering support to those looking for work and the clients which use this service.”

XP Recruitment Ltd
This company’s dedicated internal compliance and payroll team has ensured a focused level of service. With 60 years of recruitment experience and with an internal training programme, the company looks to its apprentices as a way of moulding the future workforce and helping the company grow.

XP Recruitment Ltd is undergoing a full IT system upgrade, moving to a system which will improve candidate engagement and is focused on personalised support and solutions. Their awards application sums it up well: “We cannot underestimate the impact Brexit may have on the temporary recruitment sector but know and feel our efforts to make the attraction and retention of candidate easier can only be a positive.”
Achiever of the Year
Sponsored by Brackmills Industrial Estate BID

Christy Jones – Wincanton

Christy is a dedicated health and safety manager, a chartered member of IOSH and of the Northamptonshire health and safety networking group. She is passionate about the health and safety of her colleagues and ensures the company is always legally compliant. Her priority each day is to ensure that colleagues are safe at work and go home in the same way in which they came in – injury free.

She is careful to keep things simple and to ensure that colleagues understand their own legal obligations, without baffling them with jargon.

In the last 12 months, she has been inspirational in promoting the logistics sector to Northamptonshire schools and she was recently presented with an award from Wincanton, which she accepted on behalf of the site, for achieving the lowest LTIFR (Lost Time Injury Frequency Rate) in the whole of the grocery network within Wincanton.

Richard Mallard – The NX Group

Richard Mallard joined The NX Group in October 2015, he was promoted last October to Senior Operations Manager and in the last 12 months he has risen to the challenge.

He has managed a new team, overseeing the management team on the nightshift and setting new goals for to improve efficiency and cost savings.

The transport team report into Richard, and this dynamic workforce work hard. Richard has created a great working culture and is well-respected by his team and throughout the company. His ambition to drive the company forward is evident in all that he does, and his passion encourages others to be the best they can.

Alongside his role at The NX Group, Richard actively promotes the logistics sector. He regularly attends networking events, promotes both The NX Group and the sector across social media channels, and is active in providing advice to firms looking for different supply chain solutions.

Marisa Baker – Kingsley Consulting

Over the last 18 months Marisa has carried the ambassadorial flag for the logistics sector for Kingsley Consulting. Marisa has merged her passion for the sector with support for a more vulnerable sector (ex-offenders, homeless, people with disabilities and the long-term unemployed) to provide a pathway back to work and, in some cases, back into society.

She is the founder and trustee of the charitable organisation ‘Future Routes’, set up in 2019 to make a real difference to the lives of people who have committed to working together towards being work ready.

Marisa doesn’t just talk about making a difference, she uses her own experiences to offer genuine help to those who need it. She couples this with work at schools, to promote the logistics sector and identify future talent.

- Matthew Heald – Morrisons PLC
- Marisa Baker – Kingsley Consulting

A huge thanks to the wonderful team at Northampton College!

We enjoyed a stunning performance for the College’s musical theatre performance students at the start of our evening and, for the second year, our unique award trophies have been designed and made by talented students from the College.

Northampton College have also brought their R450 Topline Scania to our awards evening to join the celebrations. This was donated to their Motor Vehicle & Logistics workshop by TruckEast to open new doors for existing students and encourage more interest in HGV apprenticeships. The Scania R - Cab is used every week as a training vehicle in various formats including diagnostics and general routine maintenance.
FORTHCOMING PROJECTS:

Working with our Armed Forces.

The Forum took an important step recently by signing the Armed Forces Covenant, making a cast-iron commitment to support service personnel and acknowledge that those whose serve or who have served in the armed forces, and their families, should be treated with the fairness and respect that they deserve.

When signing the covenant we pledged to support events through the year, some marking important milestones and other events to support the Armed Forces Logistics initiative we have kicked off, with a number of local businesses in Northamptonshire. There is more detail about this at the new website we have created at: www.forceslogisticsnorthants.co.uk, the key objective at this stage is to help armed forces personnel - whether they be cadets, starting out on a career journey, reservists seeking employment or veterans and service leavers, including their families - transitioning back to Civvy street and secure an employment opportunity that makes best use of the knowledge and skills they have gained while in service.

The pledge group work is an exciting step on this journey for us and we will continue to build on the great work so far with the support of you all.

Women in Logistics.

With one eye on diversity and inclusion the Forum agreed that understanding and supporting the role women play in logistics would help us take a proactive approach, facilitate activity and make sure the subject is not ‘invisible’.

There is a growing presence of women in the sector, in key operational and leadership roles, doing amazing jobs who are keen to support this initiative.

We have our own ‘ambassador’ in Marisa Baker, a beacon for the sector with a selfless approach to everything she does to support others, particularly those in less fortunate circumstances. To help us further we’d like your feedback through our online survey, on the Northants Logistics Forum website. Anyone can complete it and we’ll publish the results for all to see and include the subject for a Forum discussion at a future meeting.
UPCOMING MEETINGS:

The Northamptonshire Logistics forum is a collaborative working group made up of representatives from some of the leading logistics companies based here in Northamptonshire.

The group work collaboratively to aid the development of the sector locally, while helping to shape the conversation at a national level to help shape the issues affecting our businesses.

Join us at an upcoming meeting:

21st May - Stanley Black & Decker, Brackmills

Items for the agenda will include:

• Demystifying Blockchain for supply chain,
• Review of Awards & Winners,
• Follow up on topics from last meeting

plus further items to be confirmed

26th June – John Lewis, Grange Park

Presentations and updates will include:

• Modern Day Slavery – Paul Fell – OPCC
• Presentation on benefits of recruiting and supporting Armed Forces Reservists in your workforce
Meet our event compere John Griff

John: “If it wasn’t for this county, trade across Britain and beyond would be far harder, such is the advantage of our location. As one who grew up with a father who managed heavy vehicle fleets first for the armed forces and then in commerce, I appreciate the strategic importance of logistics and it is entirely right that we celebrate it here. I’m delighted to be hosting the awards and thank Wilson Browne for their support as sponsors of the compere’s role.”

John’s background is based in the arts thanks to a musical upbringing dating back to his childhood. His career since 1984 as a broadcaster and journalist has led him to work in local and national radio for a variety of stations, joining the BBC in 2009 as one of its major daypart local radio presenters.

Away from work, John is a trustee of the Northamptonshire Community Foundation and a member of The Hope Centre Business Forum.
